MONDAY, MARCH 2, 1891.

The death of General William Tecumseh Sherman, which occurred in New York, on the afternoon of February 14th, removes one of the most prominent of the Union generals in the late war. It was he who gave to the rebellion its final fatal blow, in his celebrated "March through Georgia," which led to the surrender of the southern army under Lee. Since the death of Grant, Gen. Sherman has been the most prominent figure in the United States, and the death of no other person could attract greater attention than his has. On the Sunday evening following his death, Dr. Talmage voiced the popular feeling in the following beautiful sentiments:

"The country had no grander soul to surrender into eternity than the one who has just passed away from us. Frank, honest, brilliant, gallant, patriotic William T. Sherman. Thank God that I even knew, that I even felt the hearty grip of his right hand and the friendship of his great big heart. I have no part in the question which is being agitated as to whether he was a Catholic or a Protestant. I heard his profession of faith on a memorable occasion, and under peculiar circumstances. In New York, at a New England dinner, three years ago, I sat with him four hours—he on one side and the immortal Henry W. Grady on the other. When in conversation he expressed his respect for the religion embraced by his wife and his own faith in God and his confidence in the future. He was simple as a child, brave as a lion, sympathetic as a woman, firm as a rock, watchful as a tempter when aroused against wrong, and lovely as a June morning among his friends."

A WELL-MERITED COMPLIMENT.

One of the Honolulu correspondents of the San Francisco Examiner, in a letter published in that paper, February 18th, has the following reference to Mr. J. O. Carter of this city:

"THE COMING MAN."

"Whatever changes may be made it is now admitted that Hon. Joseph O. Carter of Honolulu, brother of the Hawaiian Minister at Washington, is the coming man. He is already the real adviser of Her Majesty the Queen, and he is certainly the very best choice the Queen could have made, as an able, conscientious and conservative man. Of course nothing definite will be known for two or three weeks, but it is safe to say that Mr. Carter will be the leader of the Queen's policy in the new Cabinet. Her Majesty again sent for Mr. Carter yesterday morning and held a long consultation with him, presumably on affairs of importance, if not of State. "Mr. Carter is a man upon whom the interests of the entire kingdom can be united, and he can be depended upon to faithfully carry out the wishes of the Hawaiian people upon the principles established at the late election. He is a man in whom the native people have implicit faith and is an unswerving friend of the United States."

As is well known, Mr. Carter has been a faithful adviser of the Queen, since her accession, and has endeavored to form a Cabinet which would be acceptable to her and to the people, but without success. It has been rumored that Judge Widemann might retire from the position of Minister of Finance. In this event, should it occur, the appointment of Mr. Carter to that place would add greatly to the strength of the Government, and receive the approval of every one. His long service in the Finance Department, as registrar of public accounts, combined with his thorough knowledge of every branch of Government and mercantile affairs, point to him as the fittest man that can be named, whose influence would add greatly to the popularity of the reign of Queen Liliuokalani, and furnish a Cabinet that would possess full public confidence. Could the people—Hawaiians and foreigners—have an opportunity of expressing their opinion regarding this, it would doubtless be unanimous.

The city of New Westminster, B. C., was visited by a destructive fire on the 14th and damage to the sum of $500,000 was done.

It is stated that Brazil is trying to import 1,000,000 emigrants from Germany. Already 140,000 have been landed at various Brazilian ports by the North German Lloyd Company.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.

Per U. S. S. Monowal, San Francisco, February 20, 1891.

(From our special correspondent.)

Sugar.
New York, Feb. 20.—Cuban Centrifugal, 96 degrees, 5 65-100 cents; granulated, 64.

The sugar market is about the same. Hawaiian is coming in at a lively rate, and is being unloaded as fast as possible in order to escape the operations of the McKinley bill, which goes into effect on April 1st. Eastern refiners are hurriedly getting their Louisiana stocks into consumption for the same reason, and are at the same time getting as much Java and other foreign sugars as they can.

S. S. Australia.

The Australia arrived on the 17th, with a big freight and passenger list. Captain Houdlette reports a rough trip. The second day out of Honolulu the steamer encountered a heavy cross sea that forced him to slow the engines down to half speed. Not a breath of air was stirring, but the sea seemed disturbed mightily by some unseen power. Great towering rollers piled up all around the Australia, and a few of them broke on deck, deluging her with tons of water. One tremendous comber curled over and dropped on the fore-castle deck with such weight as to spring the planking and split both the bulkheads.

Nicaragua Canal.

As yet the Senate has taken no important action on the Nicaragua Canal matter. In executive session on the 16th inst. the question came up for discussion and developed such a hot debate that in order to avoid the development of further ill-feeling the leaders secured an adjournment. It is expected that this opposition to the scheme will be largely confined to executive sessions, and that when it comes to discussion in open Senate, the Republicans will nearly all fall in and vote and talk on Blaine's line of policy.

The Hawaiian Cable.

During the past ten days Congress has paid considerable attention to the bills providing for a subsidy for the construction of a cable to Hawaii. The first important step in the way of pushing the matter to success was the passage in the Senate on Feb. 10th of a local appropriation bill containing a clause providing for the survey of the route. This shows the good will of Congress, and the only real danger of failure of the measure is in the short time between now and the close of this session.

The Canadian Line.

A dispatch from Victoria, B. C., dated the 19th says: "The steamer West Indian arrived this morning seventy-two days from Liverpool. She is to go at once into trade between this province and Australia, being the pioneer ship of the British Columbia and Australian steamship line." This is all that is known of the proposed mission of the West Indian, but it is hardly to be presumed that any steamship owner would go into the trade without the backing of the Canadian Pacific. It would be a losing proposition at first to run the steamer without subsidy.

San Francisco News.

The State Board of Trade has recommended General N. P. Chipman of Red Bluff as head of the Department of Horticulture, Viticulture and Floriculture at the World's Fair.

Henry H. Allen, who died recently, left an estate of $200,000, only $30,000 of which was willed to his wife.

The South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company has been incorporated with a capital of $2,000,000. Among the incorporators are P. E. Her, the Omaha distiller, and others connected with the whisky interest. The company intends to establish great stockyards and packing houses at Baden in San Mateo county.

Sam Nike, a native of Madras, who has been engaged for the past twenty years in this city as a laundryman, has been sent to the Pest-house, being afflicted with leprosy. He is seventy-six years of age, and first applied for admission to the Almshouse, not knowing what ailed him.

The Koch treatment for consumption has to all appearances been very successful at the City and County Hospital. Its effect on the lepers thus far treated has also been marked.

Coal has dropped to $12 a ton, and the power of the coal ring has been broken.

Private Albert Blackman of Battery B, Fifth U. S. Artillery, shot and killed Private Gottlieb Nonnenmann at the Presidio recently. It was a cold-blooded murder.

American News.

The President is about to issue a proclamation announcing reciprocity between the United States and Venezuela.

The free coinage question is still the issue of the hour at Washington. The friends of silver are dependent over their immediate prospects, deeming it next to impossible to get their measure through at once, though they are confident of ultimate success. In the course of the discussion, ex-President Cleveland took a hand, declaring against free coinage. This is believed to effectually destroy his chances for the Presidency in 1892, as the Farmers' Alliance of the West and South is committed to free coinage.

The Sioux chiefs have been to Washington and have laid their grievances before the President. All is reported as quiet in the Sioux country.

Work has been temporarily suspended on the new World's Fair buildings in Chicago, because of labor demonstrations.

Jay Gould is credited with having formulated a plan for the consolidation of the principal railroads of the West. The aggregate capital of the companies is $800,000,000.

Stanford's land loan scheme has perished at the hands of the Finance Committee of the Senate.

Three steamships loaded with samples and merchandise are soon to be sent to Brazil from New York. Rio will be visited first and then a trip may be made to Bahia and possibly Buenos Ayres.

John Jacob Astor was married, February 17th, at New York, to Miss Ava Willing.

Foreign News.

A dispatch from Chile announces the bombardment of Pisagua by the insurgents. The blockade at Valparaiso has been raised. The insurgents have thus far had things all their own way.

The Newfoundland legislature has declared for reciprocal trade with the United States as against trade with Great Britain.

The British Imperial Government, it is announced, will shortly establish a line of steamers to Canada across the Atlantic and will also subsidize the Pacific lines. The rupture between Kaiser William and Bismarck is widening if that is possible and there are reports that Bismarck is to be prosecuted for revealing State secrets.

The new Chinese Church on Emma street was consecrated Sunday morning by the Bishop of Honolulu. The consecration service was in English and the Holy Communion in Chinese. The Bishop preached an appropriate sermon which was translated by Si Tung. The Chinese congregation turned out in fair numbers. The church is a neat building and erected mainly through the efforts of the Rev. H. H. Gowen, ably assisted by leading members of his congregation and others.
